

ARTA® Application

This feature allows you to transmit information directly from your Credit Applications into ARTA Lending or Rembrandt® Lending documents.

It streamlines your loan process and helps reduce the risk of entry errors by collecting data from account owners one time for both the Credit Application and the loan origination.

The result is that your staff spends less time entering data, and more time providing in-depth service and one-on-one support.

Business Results

- Increase Speed and Productivity—Transfer information from the Credit Application directly into the loan origination documents, eliminate unnecessary on-screen data fields, and help reduce the time it takes to make adjustments if changes are needed.
- Improve Effectiveness and Reduce Risk—Autoselect the documents appropriate for transactions, flag errors, and reduce risk with up-to-date documents developed by a trusted compliance provider.
- Address Business Objectives More Effectively—Take advantage of a more practical and efficient work flow process.

Highlights

- Create a Credit Application and related documents for consumer, business/commercial, and real estate loans.
- Retain applicant information, income, and asset/liability information for various uses, including loan documentation and reporting.
- Use the same engine for calculations as ARTA Lending or Rembrandt Lending, so you can perform what-if scenarios of payments and provide a higher level of service.

- Create dynamically driven documents that include only the information needed for that specific application.

Key Benefits

- Save data entry time with screens that present only the data fields necessary for the specific type of application being created.
- Easily make changes anywhere in the process—for example, if a borrower comes in for a second mortgage and decides on a home equity loan instead, you can make the adjustments without starting over.
- Take applications remotely and transfer the application information into your ARTA Lending or Rembrandt Lending software.
